

Transfiguration

Following initiation into Chaldai, you will begin the first of transfigurations during the course of your journey. With each transfiguration you will level up in enlightenment and increase your frequency and vibration. Our core purpose is to experience, recognize the influence of that experience upon our life, and evolve. This is really the essence of transfiguring.

In the first transfiguration it will be about preparing your heart for the seven rays to create the union of your physical avatar with your true being. The key to this process is to achieve centered emotions and thought patterns through the stripping of negative emotions, negative thought patterns, and ultimately casting out and banishing your ego (lower self). We get rid of the physical avatar ego because it will be in conflict with the true being's ego which has developed through multiple iterations of evolution. The avatar ego is a less developed lower-self based on negative emotions and negative thought patterns. The true being would not understand the conflict of those behaviors. It will also be about setting your truths and establishing your belief system. The most important thing to remember is that following the removal of these negativities always results in a truth or doubt test. Without the test you are not securing your truth or beliefs. The key to passing tests is to recognize, accept and acknowledge. Once you have fully transfigured then you will recall experiences that you can recognize the influence upon you so you can evolve to higher awareness of self.

Each consecutive transfiguration gets tougher and causes you to strive with perseverance towards the enlightenment of the higher self. You will evolve your truths from previous transfigurations as you achieve each level of awareness. This is the opportunities of enlightenment.

Progressing through the seven rays of the heart is stating your affirmations upon self discovery. These are the "I AM" truths. The key to remember is that emotion is the language of energy. To achieve the manifestation or thought form creation of that energy that creates that ray in your heart, it must be visualized and felt. This means for each instance there must be the emotion to speak the energy. The I AM truths would be "I AM one with the Universal Source", "I AM unconditional love", "I AM the Light", and so many more. The thing is...you can't just say them, you have to see and feel them.

The first ray or Heart of the One is unconditional Love...that direct connection to Source (the color is Violet(crown)). The second ray is Cosmic knowledge and Cosmic Service or our Service to Self and Service to Others (the color is Indigo (third eye)). The third ray is communication with Divine Consciousness (the color is blue (throat)). The fourth ray is known as the Ray of quality and purity through harmony (the color is pink (heart)). The Fifth Ray is known as the Ray of Truth and Healing (the color is green (heart)). The Sixth Ray represents inspiration and is known as the Ray of Invocation (the color is Yellow (solar plexus)). The Seventh Ray represents Creation or Precipitation through the Divine or thoughtform create for us (the color is orange (sacral)). The grounding of ourselves to the Earth would be the Red color (Root). Our intention is to pursue the White "Light". You will notice that the colors coincide with our chakra system which is the key to your truth discovery. And just as the seven Rays can be understood in relationship to color, they also have an application in relationship to the sound of the seven tones of an octave and the qualities of geometric form (sacred geometry). They can also be understood as virtues. All of these relationships enhance the energy of reality when it comes down to our spirituality.

It is through our visualization, energy, voiced affirmation, view of, and filling ourselves with the White Light that we become inner harmony and completeness, a direct connection to the higher Universal Source.

The process of your affirmation upon the discovery of each ray would be "I AM one with the Universal Source, I have forgiven myself for all transgressions for I AM unconditional Love (then you would state your I AM truth) and finish with "I AM filled with unconditional love and I AM filled with the white Light. I AM unconditional Love and I AM the white Light"

The best way to rid yourself of negative emotions and negative thought patterns is to identify them. They are generally strands that are wrapped all throughout your auric and physical bodies. There are a couple of ways to rid yourself of them by 1) visualize pulling the strands from your body, 2) visualize a pacman figure eating the strands, or 3) choose some visualization that works for you. The purpose is to visualize, feel, and get rid of them. To begin pulling negative emotions and negative thought patterns it is best to identify the strands of those entanglements by energy, color, and feeling. The following is provided to give you help on identification. It is important to know that generally strands are more than one combined color representing a correlation to the many emotions and thought patterns that went into the development of that strand. Just remember that it is always the negative aspects of the color.

The color red

Power, energy, passion, desire, speed, strength, power, heat, love, aggression, danger, fire, blood, war, violence, intensity, celebration, luck, stop or danger

The color yellow

Joy, optimism, happiness, danger, sunshine, idealism, imagination, hope, summer, gold, deceit, philosophy, dishonesty, cowardice, betrayal, jealousy, disease and warning.

The color green

Nature, environment, health, good luck, renewal, youth, vigor, spring, generosity, fertility, jealousy, inexperience, envy, misfortune, start signal.

The color blue

Peace, harmony, unity, trust, truth, security, confidence, conservatism, order, sky, water, cold, technology, cleanliness, depression, loyalty, immortality, stability, masculinity and protection.

The color purple

Royalty, nobility, spirituality, ceremony, mystery, transformation, wisdom and enlightenment.

The color orange

Energy, balance, warmth, enthusiasm, vitality, expansion, flamboyant.

The color gray

Safety, reliability, intelligence, melancholy, modesty, dignity, maturity, soundness, functionality, old age and grief.

The color brown

Earth, hearth, home, outdoors, reliability, comfort, endurance, stability, simplicity, comfort, trees, nature and autumn.

The color white

Reverence, virginity, nothingness, cleanliness, peace, humility, precision, innocence, youth, birth, winter, snow, goodness, marriage, cold, clinical and sterility.

The color black

Power, sophistication, formality, elegance, wealth, mystery, fear, evil, anonymity, unhappiness, depth, style, sad, remorse, anger, underground, technical, grief and death.

Core Evolutions

When you are ready to evolve, you will begin by looking for the core evolutions that we all sign up for as the lessons we must learn. There again, it is important to visualize and feel those energies to speak that language. It is also important to remember that these core evolutions can be in any combination of one or more. The core are:

- 1) Deceit
- 2) Envy
- 3) Gluttony
- 4) Greed
- 5) Lust
- 6) Pride
- 7) Wrath

Again, there will be tests of truth, doubt, and belief that follow these evolutions. You will also go into frequent reboots as you finish each process. Don't get alarmed if you achieved some power or insight along the way and all of a sudden after reboot it seems like it is gone. It's not! It just has a new file path much like your computer when it goes through an upgrade. After all, that is exactly what you have been striving for....is the upgrade. Achieving awareness, ascending the dimensional scale, evolving your true being, activating DNA strands, and seeking to level up your frequency is the ultimate goal. Always accept and acknowledge.