

WHY THE HEXAGON?

Have you noticed how the hexagon shape is beginning to pop up everywhere? There is a very good reason for this shape.

In geometry, a hexagon is a six-sided polygon. The total of the internal angles of any simple hexagon is 720° . The hexagonal shape best fills a plane with equal size units and leaves no wasted space, but it's much more important than that.

The construction of hexagonal packing of a space enables the maximum number of close neighbors, with a minimum amount of reinforcement needed for the shallow corners. This makes the hexagon a very efficient shape for the construction of almost anything.

The hexagon is a symbol of beauty, abundance, freedom, and number 6, as well as, the complimentary of polarities. This geometric shape represents the perfection of forms and literally forms the language of the Universe. It is often found in nature: honeycombs, the structure of most complicated molecules, etc.

In sacred geometry and the ancient texts, the hexagon represents ALL potentials for life. It is the one sacred shape that can contain all other sacred geometry forms, such as the Flower of Life, which is seen in ancient architecture around the world, found in most spiritual symbols, and is considered to be one of the most powerful shapes.

All sacred geometry is defined by the Universal Laws that describe the nature and purpose of the existence and are revealed through the language of numbers, angles, and shapes. Sacred geometry describes the forces of self-organization that shape the world, by the measurement of the harmonic vibrations and frequencies that sustain everything in creation. Furthermore, sacred geometry provides the means to contemplate the manifestations of Creation and comprehension in the universal order of things.

We are able to see the science of sacred geometry as it combines the material aspects of creation with the spiritual essence of comprehension. It is the interaction of the visible and the invisible, the manifested and the unmanifested, and the finite and the infinite.

The hexagon is the materialization of the number 6 (being symbolic of Creation), and is the emblem of the incarnation of Life (and all associated aspects of manifestation). Because each side can precisely measure the length of the ray, the hexagon expresses the harmony of proportions: it is the image of beauty and art. The uniqueness of the form provides several ways to express the qualities of the hexagon, but certain ways are more promising than others, because they allow a favorable alignment of energies to the realization of its vocation.

Because of its two interlocking triangles, the stability of the hexagon often stands for harmony and balance, as well as, negative and positive energies, and also male and female energy. This makes it dynamically unique by connecting vertices to transform higher resonances.

This unique shape is the platform for the germination of consciousness emerging in the conscious mind. This is the point in one's personal development when one has a platform to transform one's inner wisdom into the outer world and subsequently change the way one experiences life.

The most powerful potential regarded by this shape is the Inner-Feeling or Introspectiveness of Consciousness emanating the Universal Source's Divine characteristics enclosed within one's self, which produces a high Self-Confidence in the Force of the individual Spirit, and in turn giving Miraculous-Power to one's Divine aspects. This Miraculous-Power is inherent in all Humans who believe in it with a strong Spirit, convinced beyond any shadow of a doubt.

The purpose of the hexagon:

- keeps us in a state of awareness: who we are, where we came from, what is our purpose, and why we are here;
- teaches deep reflection on the states of being and ways to achieve spiritual perfection;
- refers to the ancient and modern knowledge of the spiritual worlds, the language of the Universe, and the power to provide balance on all planes of existence;
- endows the Universe with actions and cycles of nature.

THE PERFECT SHAPE FOR WORLDBRIDGING

In the context of disclosure, one must think about the components to connect cultures, elements, activities, and characters of unknown values into the comprehension and extraordinary assemblance of changing environments of knowledge.

We captured and mapped their institution frameworks and object relations using key factors for Worldbridging their environments. This includes

- Patterning and sequencing social relationships
- Regulated interactions among societies
- Establishing cultural values
- Cultural norms for achieving cultural goals
- Social structures
- Incompatible social values
- Institutional frameworks
- Micro structure of basic elements
- Macro structure of object relations

If we are to interact with them and become part of their Universe, then it is of utmost importance we use their designing platforms, so we can readily change and evolve as new paradigms become known about Extraterrestrial worlds, cultural norms, and structures.

When we analyzed what we learned...

Now more than ever, we know it is important to build coalitions of civilizations from many different sources at home and in our universe to ensure we can work together for the harmonious existence of all life. In order to do this, we must provide that same foundation on Planet Earth. We mirrored their frameworks and Object Relation hubs to include peace and security, sustainable economic growth and development and the rule of law as essential environments to the progress and prosperity of all.

We captured and mapped their Institution Frameworks and Object Relations

We built Programs and Environments to mirror their Frameworks and Object Relations

Using their Bridging World Platforms and understanding the cultural divides Is Key To The Future. The hexagons represent their Bridging World Platforms representing the principles and behaviors enacted to create meaningful connections and thereby encourage successful collaboration. It is the single most important new paradigm that Planet Earth will have to master. And it will enable Earthers and Extraterrestrials to forge three types of connection: across physical distance, between distinct cultures and within new cultural models. The most obvious of these is socially bridging Extraterrestrials and the people of Planet Earth. To do this, Worldbridging environments must create a sense of belonging, trust and communal expectations.

These Worldbridging Environments are the key to us entering into a much bigger picture of participation in the Universe and a much more technological and knowledge- based future. We must be willing to change and become these new environments.

Welcome to Omicron Commonwealth! We listened to them, we learned from them, we built it with them, and now we are ready to become part of their "Bridging World Platforms". Welcome to the Future!
